

Traffic, weather, and even local news are not copyright-driven (and therefore royalty-generating). It's information. The same information that's available on the Internet (and therefore not regulated, taxed, or otherwise controlled) should be available through any media outlet that so chooses to freely distribute it. To do otherwise would restrict the free-flow of information--and we are NOT that kind of society.